Ascendia and UiPath Sign Partnership for the UiPath Academic Alliance

Ascendia, a leading developer of e-learning solutions, has signed a partnership with UiPath, a global leader in enterprise automation software to support the UiPath Academic Alliance program. This collaboration aims to leverage Ascendia's learning management system CoffeeLMS for the digital training of students and future UiPath employees across Europe.

“The CoffeeLMS platform will play a key role in the UiPath Academic Alliance program,” said Florin Grigorescu, Principal Program Manager for Academic Alliance at UiPath. “It will facilitate access for students, teachers and universities from Europe to a vast set of dedicated educational resources and courses. The platform will offer a range of courses covering key topics in Automation and AI, standardizing and streamlining the learning process. Moreover, it will create a solid bridge for users, helping them transition from students to competitive job market candidates. This initiative supports the training of future well-prepared professionals who can significantly contribute to technological developments in their fields.”

Cosmin Malureanu, CEO at Ascendia, added, “We are joining forces with UiPath on this program to accelerate the global distribution of relevant educational content. By helping UiPath, we are confident CoffeeLMS will contribute to bridging the skills gap in critical new fields. For UiPath, this means a direct impact on the quality and readiness of the next generation of automation professionals, further cementing their leadership in the industry.”

The UiPath Academic Alliance has a significant impact globally, reaching more than 1,000 higher education institutions and educating hundreds of thousands of students. The program provides free UiPath software and curricula, helping students develop critical automation skills that are essential in today's job market. It also includes partnerships with prestigious institutions. The UiPath Academic Alliance is designed to bridge the gap between academic knowledge and industry requirements. By integrating CoffeeLMS, the program will offer a structured and engaging learning experience. CoffeeLMS is known for its effectiveness, SCORM compatibility, customizable interface, and ergonomic user-oriented design, making it an ideal platform for educational purposes. UiPath will benefit from advanced reporting features, increased security measures, and a high-performance, scalable system that supports both asynchronous and synchronous learning modes.
